

Terms of use for the free trial subscription

The trial subscription between ProCom GmbH (hereinafter also referred to as ProCom) and the interested party is subject exclusively to the following terms of use. Deviating conditions of the interested party will not be accepted. These terms of use only apply to companies within the meaning of § 310 para. 1 BGB (German Civil Code).

1. The interested party has the opportunity to use a free and non-binding trial subscription of the market information service offered by ProCom and selected by the interested party in a 30-day test phase within the scope of these conditions. The trial subscription is released free of charge and without any further obligations on the part of ProCom by sending the access data after ordering by the interested party as well as verification and possible queries by ProCom. The release is at ProCom's own discretion and can be freely revoked by ProCom at any time. The test access is usually sent to the interested party within 5 working days, but can also be arranged later.

2 ProCom reserves the right to terminate the trial subscription before the end of the test phase, to make queries to the interested party and - as long as the interested party has not objected - to send further information material to the electronic contact data provided by the interested party. The interested party can terminate the trial subscription at any time. An automatic extension of the trial subscription after the expiry of the test phase, which may also be subject to a charge, is excluded. After the trial period has expired, the trial subscription can only continue to be used with a paid subscription.

3. The interested party has to keep the possibly given access data secret and keep them protected from access by unauthorized third parties.

Any use of the market and other information and data received within the scope of the trial subscription is only permitted for the interested party's own internal purposes. This information and data may only be passed on or made publicly accessible with the express permission of ProCom.

4 ProCom expressly makes no claim to the correctness and accuracy of forecast values which are prepared on the basis of market information and data services and made available to interested parties. As far as these are used by the interested party, this is at the own risk of the interested party. ProCom assumes no liability in this respect.

5. Should individual provisions of these terms of use be invalid or unenforceable or become invalid or unenforceable after conclusion, this shall not affect the validity of the remaining terms of use.

6 ProCom processes personal data of the interested party in order to carry out the trial subscription. Further information is contained in ProCom's data protection declaration.
